

FULL SURROGACY - KIC

Surrogacy:

Surrogacy is when another woman carries and gives birth to a baby for the couple who want to have a child. Surrogacy may be appropriate if you have a medical condition that makes it impossible or dangerous to get pregnant and to give birth. The type of medical conditions that might make surrogacy necessary for you include:

1. Absence or malformation of the womb
2. Recurrent pregnancy loss
3. Repeated in vitro fertilization (IVF) implantation failures.

Full and Partial surrogacy:

Full surrogacy (Gestational) - Full surrogacy involves the implantation of an embryo created using either:

- a. Eggs and sperm of the intended parents
- b. Donated egg fertilized with sperm from the intended father
- c. An embryo created using donor eggs and sperm.

At KIC we perform only gestational Surrogacy. Kiran Infertility Center or KIC is a reputed clinic in India with sound reputation of having affordable surrogacy and IVF programs. The amazing success rates of its surrogacy and IVF programs is attracting people the world over as the preferred destination for IVF and surrogacy services.

Partial surrogacy (Traditional) - Partial surrogacy involves sperm from the intended father and an egg from the surrogate. Here fertilization is (usually) done by artificial insemination or intrauterine insemination (IUI). It is quite difficult to determine a success rate for surrogacy, as many factors are relevant, including

1. Surrogate's ability to get pregnant
2. Age of the egg donor (if involved)
3. Success of procedures such as IUI and IVF
4. The quality of gamete provided by the commissioning couple.

The age of the woman who provides the egg is the most important factor that affects chances of pregnancy. The risks associated with surrogacy depend on the type of surrogacy (full or partial) undertaken. Generally, the risks associated with full surrogacy are similar to those for IVF. Surrogacy involves complicated legal issues and we recommend that you seek your own legal advice before making any decisions. It is important to know that surrogacy arrangements are unenforceable.

According to various assessment, many patients who travel overseas for treatment are very satisfied with the standard of care and quality of treatment they receive from Kiran Infertility Center.
